TRAINING

Immersive Enterprise Security Awareness and Training

Effective security awareness training not only keeps your enterprise in compliance, but changes risky human behavior. An easy-to-use, immersive program that engages individuals and boosts retention of important security concepts is key.

Living Security's Training application uniquely offers enterprises an easy approach for program owners to create and distribute training as well as an immersive, tailored experience for employees.

Program owners can effectively build and maintain a vigilant security culture by customizing training sessions for specific risks, employee roles, or industries for more engaged and educated audiences.

Efficient Training Program Management, Effective Campaigns

Save time while creating your best training program yet! Streamline your efforts in planning and executing campaigns for annual compliance training, onboarding, role-based, risk-based, or other initiatives to stay ahead of training needs while also creating an engaging experience for employees.
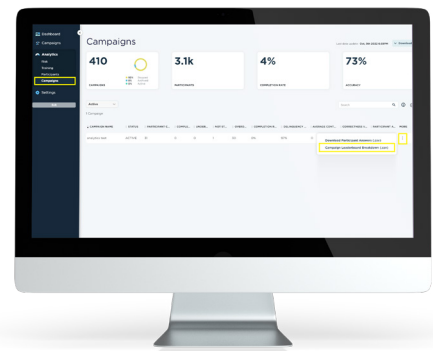

- Create various training campaigns targeted for various audiences

- Create notifications that match your brand and internal communications requirements

- Efficiently build a robust program leveraging monthly, turn-key campaign assets with our Campaign in a Box themes and training modules to keep important security topics top of mind without having to build a program from scratch

Engage the Entire Workforce

With over 100,000 5-star reviews from participants, your employees will love Living Security's Training application! Get over 1,000 minutes and more than 200 videos of streaming-styled, binge-worthy training series such as late-night TV, cooking shows, action movies, and reality TV, to keep viewers engaged and entertained so they retain security concepts after the session. Tailored training courses can also be used to better engage employees in role-based or risk-based segments, as campaigns are less efficient and effective when using a one-size-fits-all approach.

Key Features

Changing risky human behavior is the most effective defense against cyber threats. Living Security Training application provides relevant, effective content covering current security topics to empower every person in the organization to become your best security defense.

Highest-Quality, Interactive Content Series
Leverage fun and relevant content series such as late-night TV, cooking, action movies, and reality TV, to keep security themes top of mind. Learn more about our content.

Tailored Role-based & Risk-based Training Courses
A one-size-fits-all approach to training wastes time for those for whom it isn't relevant, which is expensive for enterprises. Assign training that is directly applicable to your employees' roles and responsibilities, or to the area of risk in which they've demonstrated a need for improved behavior.

Ready to Use Security Campaigns & Topics
Ready-to-use campaign templates, including topical, monthly content for newsworthy occasions to quickly and easily share with the entire workforce with Living Security's Campaigns-in-a-Box and Mini Campaigns-in-a-Box.

Engaging Notifications
Customize campaign notification emails within the application to send from a recognized domain and with your organization's branding.

Be Where Employees Are
Engage employees where they spend time, sending reminders and nudges through messaging apps like Microsoft Teams and Slack to improve engagement and change behaviors.

Flexible Audience & Campaign Management
Take advantage of an enterprise-focused admin console and Campaign Builder for easy audience and campaign customization and management.

Translations
Consume training in nearly 20 languages.

A Partner for Success
Our Client Success Managers (CSM) and support team are your partners in success and subject matter experts in all Living Security products. You can expect regular meetings with your CSM to align on your goals, monitor key metrics, and leverage best practices to ensure you're achieving success and maximizing value from the Living Security products.
